

GROWING DEEPER:

Questions to dig deeper into this week's topic

THE ALL Y'ALL DOCTRINE

Even the Tax Collectors?!

1. We can understand how people, even organizations, could have different sets of values that are most important to them. Why is it challenging to respect differences in faith/biblical values in other Christians?
2. Dion Garrett argued that as Christians, many of our disagreements over biblical values & morality are disagreements about the order and priority we assign to biblical values, not a dispute on which values are biblical themselves. Do you agree or disagree? Try to apply his theory to a relevant hot-button example.
3. Dion Garrett also said that it's impossible for any one of us to embrace and live out all of God's values perfectly, but maybe together, we can. What do you think he meant by that? (for help, see Romans 12:3-8)
4. Why do you think you find yourself treating other Christians, who prioritize different values, as heretics rather than complements you desperately need?
5. Read Ecclesiastes 3:1-11. How can this help counsel us as we seek to live out the whole gambit of the bible's values individually or as a congregation?
